

Some very tall trees tower above the main forest layer. These are called emergent.

This layer is called the canopy. Many birds, monkeys and other animals live here.

Here it is more airy, and climbing plants can be found. This is the understory.

On the forest floor it is dark, hot and humid.